Based on the course you have studied in Translation, write a well-developed research paper (ranging from 5-15 pages including the introduction and the conclusion) on one of the following topics:

- 1- The four types of meaning of a word (propositional, expressive, presupposed, and evoked) with appropriate examples to support your understanding.
- 2- Some of the problems of nonequivalence in translation as applied to one or more of the passages studied.
- 3- Some of the strategies of managing nonequivalence as applied to one or more of the passages studied.

N.B. The paper that will be passed is the one including original, not plagiarized, repeated, or copy-and-paste information.
