That struts and frets his our upon the stage,

And then is heard no more; it is a tale

Told by an idiot, full of sound and fury, signifying nothing. (Macbeth, Act V, Scene V)

Answer the following questions

1-Attempt a Critical Analysis of the Poem Below:

Like as a huntsman after weary chase,
Seeing the game from him escaped away,
Sits down to rest him in some shady place,
With panting hounds, beguiled of their prey.

So, after long pursuit and vain assay,
When I all weary had the chase forsook,
The gentle deer returned the self same way,
Thinking to quench her thirst at the next brook.

There she, beholding me with milder look,
Sought not to fly, but fearless still did bide,
Till I in hand her yet half trembling took,
And with her own good will her firmly tied.

Strange thing, me seemed, to see a beast so wild
So goodly won, with her own will beguiled.

Please Turn Over !!!

The Second Paper

2- Give a full evaluation of the Poem Below:

Not marble nor the gilded monuments
Of princes shall outlive this powerful rhyme;
But you shall shine more bright in these contents
Than unswept stone, besmeared with sluttish time.

When wasteful war shall statues overturn
And broils root out the work of masonry,
Nor Mars his sword nor war's quick fire shall burn
The living record of your memory.

'Gainst death and all oblivious enmity shall you pace forth; your praise shall still find room
even in the eyes of all posterity that wear this world out to the ending doom.

So, till the judgment that yourself arise,
You live in this, and dwell in lovers' eyes.
